PRESIDENT IN CONFERENCE WITH SOLONS

Senators Closed
With Chief Executive Upon League of Nations Question.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, July 17.—President Wilson began today conferences with republican senators for discussion of the peace treaty and the league of nations covenant. His first caller was Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, a supporter of the treaty and the covenant.

Three other senators, Jones of Washington; Colt, of Rhode Island; and Nelson, of Minnesota, had been invited to call at the White House during the day, but Senator Jones was out of the city. The president expected to see Senators Colt and Nelson this afternoon.

Invitations to several more republican senators to call at the White House tomorrow have been sent by the president, it was announced. Their names were not disclosed, but it was understood that there were five on the list.

It was intimated that the president planned to invite all of the republican senators to the White House, devoting four or five hours each day to the conference with them. Senators Borah, Idaho, and Johnson, California, two of the bitterest opponents of the league of nations, were expected to be on the list, but there apparently was some doubt in administration circles whether they would accept.

Under present plans of the president it was not believed that he would be able to start on his trip to the Pacific coast much before the end of the month. Even with such a delay naval officials hoped that he would be able to reach the coast in time to review the new Pacific fleet at San Francisco, August 15.

Senator McCumber was closeted with the president for more than an hour. He declined to discuss details of his conference, saying he considered them confidential.

"Our conversation covered a wide range," said Senator McCumber, "and if the president wants to say what we talked about that is all right. But as far as I am concerned, I consider that our conversation was confidential, and I do not feel at liberty to disclose what happened."

Senator McCumber said that his position in regard to the league of nations "had been made as clear as the English language could make it," and that his position now was the same as it always had been.

Senator McCumber would not say whether the shanting situation was under discussion.

Specimens of all species of mosquitoes found in army camps will be displayed in the army medical museum at Washington, D. C.

The Mayor's Opportunity

AN EDITORIAL

MAYOR SIMPSON now has the opportunity of his official career. The Republican organ of the city has charged members of the City Council, the majority Republican, with having "double crossed" the City Solicitor and played into the hands of the Lima Gas Company, which it is alleging, has tried to "put something over" on the city.

This is the time for Mayor Simpson to show his hand. He is the Executive Officer of the City. He is the man whom the majority of the voters of Lima decided was to be their representative in managing the city's business.

If there is anything wrong ANYWHERE the people of the city want to know it. They will not be satisfied with half-measures. They want the Councilmen cleared of an ugly charge or they want them shown up as having been unfaithful to their trust.

The Mayor can demand the resignation of the Councilmen. At the same time he may start a house cleaning in other directions. There are complaints galore that the street and sewer improvements have been used as a football and that none of them have been started. Barrels of money have been spent on the new reservoir and it isn't completed. The state examiner has returned a recommendation that the city treasurer be removed. He has charged irregularities in other lines.

If Mayor Simpson is a REAL EXECUTIVE, the head of the city, he will go to the bottom of the whole matter, LET THE CHIPS FALL WHERE THEY MAY.

The Times-Democrat is perfectly willing to aid Mayor Simpson in every way possible. Politics should be laid aside. Everyone should lend a hand if Mayor Simpson personally takes charge of a thorough investigation of EVERY angle of the city's business.

The head of a concern is supposed to direct its affairs. Let the Mayor of Lima determine if there is ANYTHING WRONG ANYWHERE.

REPUBLICAN IN SENATE URGES WORLD'S PACT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Announcing his support for the principles embodied in the league of nations covenant, but withholding judgment regarding certain reservations, Senator Colt, republican, Rhode Island, told the senate today that the nation "must at least see the great undertaking upon which we have embarked in entering the war through to the end which can only be done by our becoming a member of the league."

The Rhode Island senator declared himself unable to agree with the objections that the league would create a superstate or subvert the American constitution. He said, however, that the Monroe Doctrine must be clearly safeguarded and domestic questions left for national action.

"The league of nations in its essence is simply an association of free nations," he said.

"The principle of international cooperation as the means by which international peace can be made secure has never been tried before. All other means of preventing war have failed. Not to try this experiment would leave the world in the same condition of international anarchy as it was before the war. There is no antagonism between true nationalism and internationalism which would substitute the reign of law for the reign of force."

"If we believe that it would be dishonorable to withdraw from Europe at this time, to desert France, England and Italy in this critical hour when the whole world is in a turmoil, then the United States should certainly remain in the league during this world-settlement and until peace and order are restored. To my mind we must at least see the great undertaking upon which we embarked in entering the war through to the end and, as a part of this undertaking, we must help to re-establish a new world order by the enforcement of the terms of peace, which can only be done by our becoming a member of the league of nations."

"I believe the great mass of the American people are convinced that something must be done to prevent future wars. They want something done. They do not want to leave the world in its old condition, and they favor the league of nations, based upon international co-operation as the best solution of the problem. I am in favor of the principles embodied in the league of nations. This does not mean that I have reached a decision that the league should be ratified in the precise form in which it is now presented."

"There has been much controversy over the question whether the league should not be separated from the peace treaty. I have always believed the league to be inseparable from the peace treaty because the treaty cannot be enforced except through the league."

IS ARRESTED FOR THEFT OF $135,000

CHICAGO, July 17.—John W. Worthington, former Chicago broker wanted in connection with the theft of $135,000 worth of securities from the Crittenden Brokerage company, of Pittsburgh last February has been captured in Vancouver, B. C., according to word received here today.

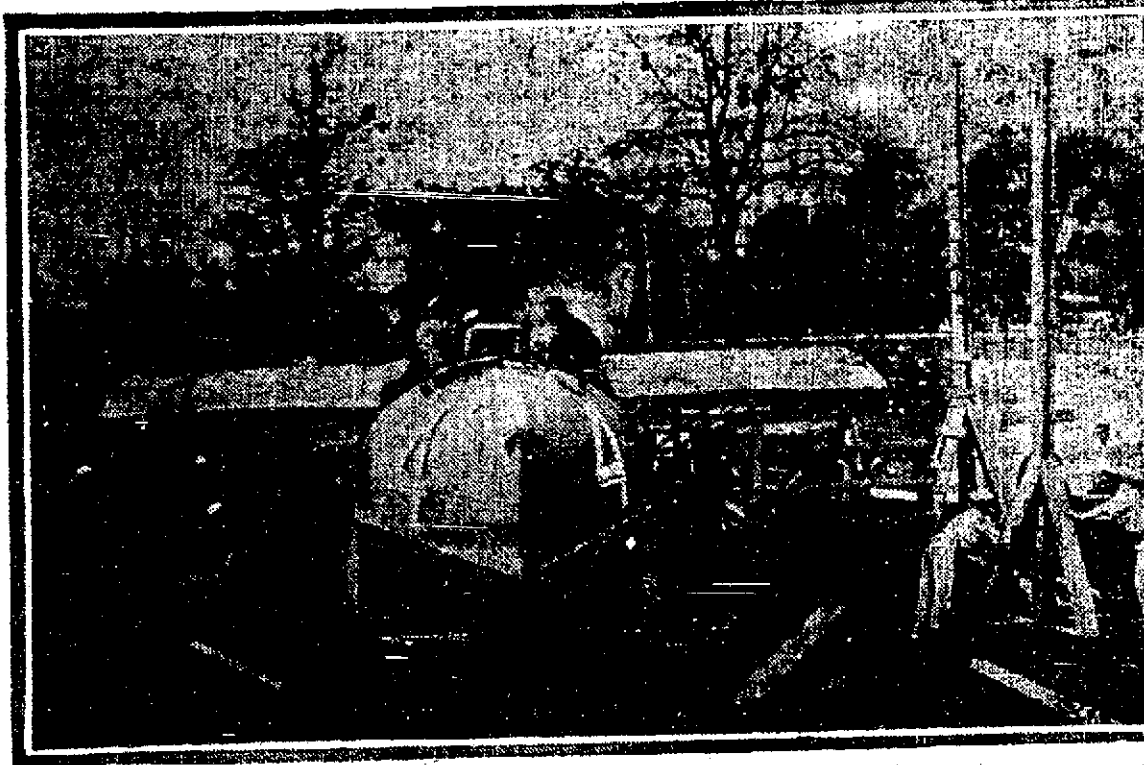

The search for the fugitive had been carried on for two months by United States secret service and department of justice officials.

Worthington was placed under bond of $10,000 in the municipal court here May 20, following his arrest in connection with the Pittsburgh robbery. He fled the city and was arrested while preparing to sail for Japan. He is being held by the Canadian authorities pending extradition.

KILLED AT CROSSING.

BELLEFAIR, O., July 17.—Mrs. James Paris and her mother, Mrs. George McGinnis, were killed instantly and the former's four-year-old daughter was seriously injured when the buggy in which they were riding was struck by a New York Central train at Ridgeway today.

First Transatlantic Plane To Be Central Park Exhibit

New York City and her thousands of visitors are to have a chance to see just what manner of flying machine it was that crossed the Atlantic. This photograph shows officers and men of the Rockaway Naval Air Station at work setting up the NC-4 in Central Park for public exhibition. The naval flying boat was brought back recently aboard the U. S. S. Aroostook. After the exhibition the plane will be shipped to Washington and placed in the Smithsonian Institution.

OHIO ALLOWED ONLY TWO REGTS. NATIONAL GUARD ADJUTANT GENERAL TOLD

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The war department has announced the after-the-war plan of reorganization of the national guard for the entire country, under the national defense act of June, 1916.

In accordance with this plan Maj. Gen. Carter of the militia bureau of the war department has forwarded to Adj. Gen. Layton of Ohio, this allotment of units for that state for the fiscal year 1920: Two regiments, infantry; two troops, cavalry; one regiment and one battalion, field artillery; one battalion, engineers; one signal company (outpost); one signal company (wire); one engineer train; two field hospital companies; two ambulance companies.

The new infantry divisional districts, under the sixteen-division plan, will be practically the same as that in which the national guard was formed for service in the United States army. Ohio is in National Guard Divisional District No. 58.

Concerning the reorganization of the national guard, a matter of interest throughout the country and in communication to adjutant generals of states says:

1.—The national guard which existed prior to the war with the central European powers was drafted into the federal service, and after performing its duty with great honor and fidelity, has been discharged from its obligation. The time now has arrived for its reorganization under the laws by which it has been established, and in pursuance with the acts of congress making provisions for its maintenance and equipment.

2.—Plans for the reorganization of the national guard call for the eventual organization, as soon as appropriations are available, on the following basis:

Young Bandits Held For Murder

CLEVELAND, July 17.—The two youthful bandits, who yesterday shot and killed Ernest Gray, a deputy marshal and probably fatally wounded two other members of a posse at Willoughby, were identified today as Andrew and Patrick Kay, of Cleveland. When taken to the county jail at Painesville the youths gave their names as Andrew and Patrick Kay, of Akron.

The youths surrendered yesterday after being fired upon and trapped in an underbrush following a chase in which more than four hundred residents of Western Lake county participated after they had fired the fatal shots, while being run down on the request of Cleveland police for alleged burglary.

Is Arrested For Luring Boy Away

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 17.—James Kelley, 52, who it was alleged lured Cyril Callahan, aged 14, away from home a year ago and compelled him and another boy to work for him in various New York towns was arrested here last night. The Callahan boy was found in Buffalo, N. Y., last week and returned home. Kelley evidently followed him back to Youngstown and was arrested after he had sent the boy a letter asking him to meet him.

FIND STOLEN BONDS AFTER MAN KILLED BY AN EXPLOSION

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

BUCKEYS, O., July 17.—Following an explosion in a shed in which a man supposed to have been F. Mayhew, Benwood, W. Va., was killed, and Leonard Keline, Benwood, was injured, authorities found $22,000 in war savings stamps and Liberty bonds, believed to have been stolen from the bank at Nova, Ohio, several nights ago.

It is thought that the shed was the hiding place of a band of robbers, who recently took large amounts of securities from banks at Harpster and Napoleon, Ohio.

Keline refuses to talk, and police do not know the cause of the explosion.

OHIO STATE EMPLOYEES ARE ON VERGE OF A GENERAL WALKOUT

COLUMBUS, O., July 17.—Protest against treatment accorded to pleas for increased compensation is seen in the threat of employees of the Industrial Commission to strike. The direction of the complaint is toward the General Assembly and the symptoms now are evidences that have been developing slowly.

The only satisfaction that the employees are said to have received from their appeals to the Finance Committee of the House of Representatives was a curt refusal. In presenting their case Commissioner Thomas J. Duffy heard it stated that if they were not receiving sufficient wages they should quit, and others would be found to take their places.

The influence which treated the pleas with disdain left a deep impression and alarm is now felt over the trouble that has been stirred up. No means of settling the controversy appears to be in sight.

Money Questioned Involved
Another problem is that of finding money. Only recently Governor

James M. Cox refused to act on the $55,000,000 budget appropriation bill because he said that his conscience would not permit him to endorse a check when he knew the money was not in bank or on its way.

Notwithstanding doubts that are expressed as to plans of the employees, the assertion was made that "paddocks will go on the doors" unless demands for higher pay are met. The Industrial Commission members have no complaint of the loyalty of the employees, and it is recounted that about 60 of them remained through the war period despite attractive offers in private establishments.

The commission promised that it would do all in its power to obtain an increase, fully expecting that the General Assembly would yield. The increases granted in the Workmen's Compensation Department, with 200 assistants, amounted to $2,950, of which a few received nearly all. These were employees who would have left at once.

CONGESTION OF SHIPPING IS GROWING

New York Sailors' Strike Threatens Complete Embargo On Coast Trade

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

BOSTON, Mass., July 17.—Car service on the street, subway and elevated lines here and in 12 adjacent cities and towns was tied up today by a strike of 8,000 union employees of the Boston Elevated Railway system.

Thousands of workers walked from suburban homes while scores of extra "shuttle" trains and added coaches on the regular trains on the Boston and Maine, Boston and Albany, and New York New Haven and Hartford railroads were brought into service. Commercial and industrial concerns were handicapped by depleted forces as thousands of employees were forced to remain away during the early hours for lack of transportation.

The strikers demand an eight hour day against alleged delay on the part of the war labor board in announcing an award in the wage dispute between the company and the union. The strikers demand an eight hour day and a wage of 73.1-2 cents an hour.

NEW YORK, July 17.—An embargo on export freight was threatened today as the strike of firemen, oilers and seamen continued to spread. Congestion of freight on the docks has become a serious matter, and an embargo on shipments for transfer to coastwise steamers was expected to be made operative at any time. The number of police assigned to guard the piers has been doubled and every precaution taken to prevent damage by fire to the vessels tied up for lack of crews.

The action of the United States shipping board in appealing to the strikers for volunteers to permit the sailing of six ships with cattle for the French government, was interpreted as recognition by the government officials of the seriousness of the strike situation.

CLEVELAND, July 17.—An appeal to the state public utilities commission to grant a hearing in the Cleveland Telephone strike situation was to be made today by leaders of the strikers.

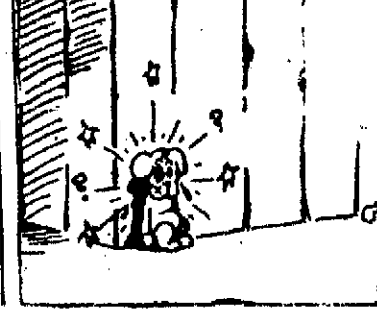

This decision was reached by union officials after efforts of city council special telephone investigating committee to bring mediation between the strikers and the company officials failed. The council committee is completing a report on the results of its three day investigation.

And He Did!

I'LL JUMP OUT AND SCARE THAT CAT TO DEATH!

AND HE DID!

of the justification of the walkout. This report will be submitted to city council at a special meeting tomorrow night.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 17.—Hope of an early settlement of the strike of more than 100 telephone operators here appeared today with the offer of a $3 a week increase by the Bell and Ohio State companies. Conferences on the subject with the mayor presiding are continuing today to reach a final agreement. Striking telephone electricians have also been granted an increase.

GOOD IS NOT GOOD WIFE ASKS DIVORCE

Independence Day, when it was founded, may have proven successful to the United States, but that does not mean anything in the life of Florence Good, who was married to Harley L. Good on July 4, 1905, in the city of Bluffton, and who has filed suit for divorce in common pleas court.

Mrs. Good, avers Harley has been anything except what his last name implies, and she charges gross neglect of duty. She further alleges he has failed to provide for her, and she has been forced to work in boarding houses, take in sewing, and depend upon charity for a living.

She says, Good left her August 10, 1915, and since that time has been away. She asks for the custody of the child.

Sons Held For Non-Support of An Aged Mother

Yesterday afternoon, Claude and Frank Pryne, who reside near Lima, were lodged in county jail where they will await an investigation to be made by the court, according to information received from county officials. It is understood, some while ago, the men were indicted on a non-support charge, and were ordered, by the court to contribute $1 each every week toward the support of their aged mother.

This has not been done, officials state, and it is probable the men will have to serve a suspended sentence.

WILSON PLANS OPEN DOORS FOR SOLONS OF BOTH HOUSES

WASHINGTON, July 17.—President Wilson today inaugurated his plan of devoting a number of hours each day to receiving senators and representatives. His first caller was Senator Swanson, of Virginia, a member of the foreign relations committee, and a strong supporter of the peace treaty and the league of nations covenant.

Other visitors included Senator Owen, of Oklahoma, who asked the president's support of a bill authorizing the establishment under government supervision of a bank or banks to finance American export trade.

Francis Burton Harrison, governor general of the Philippines, spent a half hour with the president, discussing Philippine questions. Mr. Harrison said later that he expected to return to Manila on the first available steamer.

Representative Rucker, of Missouri, another White House caller, asked the president to include Missouri in his tour of the country. He was told that the itinerary for the trip had not been decided upon, but that if possible the president would visit Missouri.

Senator Chamberlain said after leaving the White House that while there had discussed the president's itinerary for the "swing around the circle," adding it was quite certain that Mr. Wilson would speak in at least three places in Oregon, including Portland.

Magnate Says Street Car Men Deserve More

WASHINGTON, July 17. Declaring street railway employees clearly were entitled to the wage increases granted by the war labor board, Guy E. Trapp, chairman of the Westinghouse Manufacturing Company, told the Federal Street Railway Commission here today that some basis of fares on a cost of service plan should be worked out between the public and the traction companies.

The commission was appointed by president Wilson to investigate the whole street railway situation and recommend methods for relief of the companies, many of which are on the verge of bankruptcy.

Municipal ownership was believed by Mr. Trapp to be among the possibilities of the present situation.

Questioned by members of the commission, Mr. Trapp said great fortunes had been made by street railway corporations in the past, but not through revenues from fares.

A return was never paid on a five cent fare, he said, but "hopes were capitalized and hopes were sold. He added that there was no question but dishonesty in over-capitalization, stocks manipulation and the use of corporate influence in the past were in a large measure responsible for the difficulties now being experienced by the traction companies.

THE RAMBLER'S COLUMN

The old song said "And he Rambled all Around."

If you want to know who is the soundest sleeper in all Lima, we're going to tell you about him—but the Rambler, being a timid sort of a man, only weighing around the 200 mark, will have to camouflage the name.

You remember how hard it rained Monday afternoon—it simply poured! People down-town were soaked to the skin before they could get into a friendly door.

Yet a well-known Lima young man slept right out in the rain in an open automobile, directly in front of the Deisel store, and he did not awaken until a young lady friend came along, saw his predicament and gave him a good shaking.

And the young man was sober, too. Can you beat it? Most of us nervous folks can't sleep at home in our ill old trundle bed, but here's a young man who slept right out in the hardest "goose-drowner" of a rain Lima has had in years. And when the young man awakened it is needless to say he had about all the water there was in that part of Lima in his clothes and car. Honestly now, can you beat it?

S. S. Wheeler, well-known Lima attorney, recently visited relatives in Texas, and as he was located not far from one of the boom oil towns, drove over to see the fun.

People couldn't understand why he didn't get wildly excited, want to buy all the territory surrounding and cut up generally like all the newcomers do when they see a boom oil town.

"Old stuff," said Mr. Wheeler. "Why, we had that kind of excitement up in my home town of Lima, Ohio, 30 years ago. You can't stampede a fellow who has been through the oil boom once."

The Lima barrister says that the cost of drilling a well in the new Texas field is from $40,000 to $60,000. He figured up the number of dry holes drilled in the part of the Texas field he visited and estimated that at least $2,000,000 had been sunk there.

This may make interesting reading for the many Lima folks who get interested in the pretty red and blue circulars sent out by fake brokers telling of the millions that may be made in their oil companies.

Mr. Wheeler said that he had a talk with a young man who is connected with an oil well supply house, on the Pullman coming home. The young man told him that the pipe alone for a recent well cost $19,000. Some comparison to the old days of drilling in northwestern Ohio.

M'ADOO IS HIRED BY CHILE GOVERNMENT

Former Secretary of Treasury Employed to Negotiate Big Loan in U. S.

NEW YORK, July 17.—William G. McAdoo, formerly secretary of the treasury, has been retained by the government of Chile as financial adviser in charge of its efforts to negotiate loans in the United States. It is learned here.

A Chilean financial mission of three members has been in this city since last April, seeking to negotiate a loan of approximately $20,000,000 authorized by the Chilean congress for the purpose of rehabilitating its government owned railroads.

Chilean legislation provided for the payment of interest at the rate of 5 per cent, but bankers who have been approached by the mission are said to have demanded a higher rate. It was understood that Mr. McAdoo's record while secretary of the treasury in disposing of government bonds bearing low interest, was expected by Chilean officials to make it possible for Mr. McAdoo to present the Chilean loan in a more favorable light.

JAPS AID KOLCHAK.

TOKIO, July 17.—General Romanovsky has been sent here by Admiral Kolchak, leader of the all-Russian government at Omsk, to negotiate with the Japanese for munitions and general supplies for the Russian army.

Although the Japanese government in the past has been actively interested in Colonel Semenov, the Cossack leader at Chita, there is a disposition here now to get into closer touch with the Kolchak government at Omsk on the ground that it is a serious movement for the pacification of Russia and the re-construction of that troubled country.

WAR MOTHERS TO HOLD CONVENTION

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 17.—Mrs. Alice M. French, national president of the American War Mothers, has announced that the national convention of that organization will be held in Washington, D. C. September 29 to 31, inclusive. The plans are for the national board of directors, of which Mrs. Reuben R. Hatcher, of Paris, Ky., is chairman, to meet on the afternoon of September 29. The convention will open formally that evening. Mrs. French is to preside, assisted by Mrs. Emilie Hendricks, of Salem, Oregon, and Mrs. C. L. F. Robison, Hartford, Conn. first and second vice presidents, respectively.

The American War Mothers is an organization of mothers of soldiers, other women relatives not being admitted to membership.

Toledo Council Stands Pat on St. Car Muddle

TOLEDO, O., July 17.—Members of the city council today announced that they stand pat on their order that the Toledo Railways and Light Company take its street cars and tracks off the streets at the end of this month. The assurance came after an effort had been made in some quarters to have the city and the company reach a compromise.

The order was issued when the company raised the fare from five cents, one cent for a transfer, to six cents, two cents for a transfer.

The city has reached no solution of the car crisis, a proposal to replace car service by a $2,000,000 automobile bus service having been abandoned when the city was unable to grant an immediate franchise to protect the investors. Unless there is a compromise or some substitute for car service is found, Toledo will walk after July 30.

AUTOIST FINED.

After pleading guilty to driving his automobile without a license tag on it, when arraigned in police court this morning, D. H. Brideman, 644 East Kibby street, was fined $5.

NEW BANKING LAW IS EFFECTIVE ONE SUPT. BERG. SAYS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 17.—Ohio now is operating under the most progressive banking code of any state in the union, according to State Bank Superintendent P. H. Berg. The new code was enacted during the recent session of the legislature, the result of collaboration of the Ohio Bankers Association, Superintendent Berg and members of the legislative banking committee became operative July 11th.

One of the chief features of the new banking code is its stringent provisions applicable to private banks. According to Assistant Bank Superintendent Obendorfer, the safeguards to the public in connection with private banks are about ninety-five per cent greater than under the old law. There are 168 private banks in the state which are brought under direct supervision of the state banking department by the new code. Private banks now are required to respond to calls of the Superintendent for statements of their condition on certain dates, and these statements, duly sworn to, must be published in the newspapers. Ownership of such banks also must be made public.

Powers of trust companies also are greatly enlarged by the new code. They may now act as administrators, executors guardians etc., a power heretofore denied them.

The new law also places a ban on irresponsible persons handling foreign exchange, a matter which is previous years has given the department much trouble, especially in cities having a large foreign population. Heretofore, any person putting up a $5,000 bond with the Auditor of State could sell foreign exchange. This privilege was greatly abused, it is said. Instead of acting only in the capacity of agent to transmit money to foreign countries, these individuals many times would receive "deposits" from their countrymen.

A number of cases where such "depositors" lost heavily have come to the attention of the banking department. Under the new law, only banks and duly incorporated railroads, steamship and express companies may now deal in foreign exchange.

Perhaps the most stringent provision of the new law in which the general public is most interested is that making it a felony subjecting the offender to a term in the penitentiary, to overdraw a checking account at a bank. The check itself is considered prima facie evidence of attempt to defraud and the burden of proof that no such intent was avowed is placed upon the fellow who draws the check. Under the old law, the burden of proof was on the bank to show that the intention was to defraud.

Other states, according to officials of the Ohio banking department are watching with keen interest the practical working of the new Ohio banking code.

World's Sunday Schools to Meet in Japan, 1920

TOKIO, July 17.—Extensive preparations are already under way in Japan for the International Sunday School convention which will be held in Tokio next year, and which will bring to Japan some 3,000 foreign visitors, 2,000 of them Americans. The conference will probably open October 15, 1920, and last about ten days.

As foreign style hotels are always crowded with regular tourists, the delegates will probably be asked to lodge on the steamers which will convey them to Japan.

Commenting on the coming convention The Jiji says the convention is not a mere religious event, but should be regarded as a very important international affair, having a bearing upon the diplomatic interests of this country.

Grocers Fined For Exorbitant Food Charges

COLUMBUS, O., July 17.—Judge Bellamy and son, grocers at Portsmouth, Ohio, are charged with having charged "exorbitant and unwarranted prices" for groceries furnished to persons held in quarantine at Portsmouth during May, June and July 1915, in the report of the state bureau of accountings examiners, just made public.

A finding of $600 is made against this firm, the report showing a comparison of orders and prices charged by Bellamy and nine other Portsmouth grocers in which it is shown that Bellamy charged two and a third times as much for his goods as the others. Out of a total of $2,134.64 paid by the city for groceries during the quarantine, $1,342.91 was to Bellamy's credit, he receiving 63 per cent of the total expenditure although having furnished but 44 per cent of the groceries.

DRY LEADERS O. K. USE OF ALCOHOL FOR FLAVORING

Espouse Cause of Manufacturers of Extracts Who are Seeking Exemption

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Representative C. D. Benson, of Maryland, has made public a copy of a telegram sent from Columbus, Ohio, by James Cannon, Jr., and Ernest H. Cherrington, leaders of the national anti-saloon league, to Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the league, in which they advise a modification of the prohibition enforcement bill before the house, so as to exclude flavoring extracts from its drastic provisions.

Used To Prevent Freezing

The telegram states that they have just had a conference with Frank L. Beggs, a manufacturer of flavoring extracts at Newark, O., who also represents the National Flavoring Extract Manufacturers' association of the United States and that they strongly advocate an amendment to the bill, specifically legalizing manufacture and sale of flavoring extracts containing some amount of alcohol as may be necessary to hold the constituents in solution preserve the preparation or prevent it from freezing.

Their telegram concludes: Amendment Urged.

"Best attorneys he has consulted, insist that without some such provision, the flavoring extract business will undoubtedly be prohibited since leading manufacturers claim that as yet the successful manufacture of flavoring extracts is dependent upon use of alcohol and there is no known method to make them non-potable. We are inclined to believe that this suggestion is reasonable and we urge your careful consideration for the protection of these interests. Please wire fully immediately Centenary Office, Fair grounds, your attitude on this point."

Representative Stephens of Cincinnati has prepared an amendment which he will offer embodying the alterations supported by Cannon and Cherrington.

Comparing Two Wars

THE OHIO LEGISLATURE "regarded with surprise, anxious alarm, pain and regret, the evidences that have reached us and the disclosures that have been made in Congress of wastefulness, fraud, and speculation, based upon the deep corruption among the agents of our National Government in connection with supplies for the army," and asked Congress to provide laws against all manner of frauds.

No, dear readers, the legislature referred to did not sit during the war with Germany but during the civil war and it will be seen that the whole nation was stirred by the graft and corruption and extravagance that permeated the entire field of war activity. State legislatures passed resolutions demanding the elimination of the grafting and the punishment of the offenders; governors appealed to the president. Yet, even in that war, so much smaller than the late war, the president his cabinet and the officials of the government were not able to eliminate the greed of the profiteers, nor the looting of the public treasury. And no one today will question the honesty of purpose of Abraham Lincoln and his administration.

The draft was corrupted. Governor Brough of Ohio wrote on Feb. 6, 1865, as follows: "I am satisfied that there is more or less corruption in one half of the provost marshals of the state. I know that some men of heretofore moderate means have retired from these positions with handsome competencies while some remaining in them are manifesting outward tokens of worldly means not derived from salaries. The Ohio governor further charged that corruption extended to surgeons who examined draft men. Men would feign deafness, blindness, cardiac disease, and other disabilities and some surgeons would write out certificates of exemption on receipt of a substantial fee.

"The government paid double and more for everything it purchased. Contractors vied for enormous profits; soldiers were furnished with guns that would not shoot, powder that would not explode, shoes of which the soles were filled with shavings, hats that dissolved in a month's showers and clothing made of old cloth, ground up and fabricated over again and for which the government paid ahead of prices. Sailors went to sea in ships built of green timber, fitted with engines ready for the junk shop. Every article that rascally ingenuity could devise was resorted to to procure the brigadier's stars or the colonel's eagles for ambitious incompetents; the sacred secrets of our government were sold to the enemy and the very medicine for the sick soldiers was adulterated and there was fraud in the transportation of the wounded."

The above paragraph was taken from the report of Col. Henry S. Aleott, editor of the Republican New York Tribune, to the Secretary of War in Lincoln's cabinet.

Space does not permit going further into the record of the graft, corruption, and looting of the treasury in civil war times, but enough is given to show the difference between the civil war and the war with Germany. The criticism quoted above is taken entirely from Republican sources friendly to the administration.

Congress is now investigating the war with Germany, an undertaking many times greater than the civil war. The only Republican charge against the administration is that of extravagance. Looking backward to civil war times the fair minded man of today will regard the lone issue of extravagance, and that occurring under the most unusual conditions as a vindication of the administration in its conduct of the war. He will review the recent draft, a marvel of efficiency against which not a single charge of favoritism has been made and compare it with the corrupt draft of the Sixties; he will delve deep into the conduct of the war from every angle and the result will not only be vindication of the administration of Woodrow Wilson but will provoke praise for its efficiency and accomplishment.

Pinchot on G. O. P. Bosses

IF ANY further evidence were needed as to the predilections and affiliations of the "bosses" in the Republican party than is supplied by their own records, Clifford Pinchot, progressive Republican and close friend of the late President Roosevelt, supplies it. In a recent speech before the Republican Presidential Club at Cambridge, Mass., Pinchot said of the G. O. P. leaders:

"The reactionaries are enemies of the people, for they are owned and controlled by the special interests which keep the cost of living high and continually drive it higher. Crane, Harding, Watson and their like, and Penrose, the flower of the G. O. P. are the little brothers of the profiteers. They believe in money first and human welfare, if at all, afterward. Without such men as these the greatest monopolies could never have been formed."

At another point in his speech, Pinchot said:

"How far these men have misread the signs of the times is almost incredible. For example, during the sessions of the Republican National Committee in Chicago last March, the man most discussed as a candidate for the Presidency was Jim Watson of Indiana, a candidate who would be little more acceptable to the average Republican voter than John D. Rockefeller or Penrose himself. I was there and I know."

Misrepresenting Their Party

THE ATTITUDE and actions of Senators Lodge, Knox and a few of their close associates in the fight against the League of Nations there has been an implication that they constitute the Republican party as well as the sole source of authority in making treaties.

Senator Mcumber's repudiation of their leadership and his espousal of the League was the first disillusionment vouchsafed to these "makers of destiny." Now come some of the most influential Republicans in the country to urge the Senatorial Tailors of Tooley Street to regard the wishes of some hundreds of thousands of other members of the party by whom the opposition to the League of Nations is deemed both distasteful and disastrous.

This little cabal of Senators have not thus far been moved by considerations of patriotism, but they may now be expected to pay some heed to threats of defection in the ranks of their party. Their whole conduct has been such that it is not unfair to believe they would rather withdraw from the fight on the League than be withdrawn from the Senate.

GOOD EVENING—A wise newspaper man omits the statement that one swallow doesn't make a summer, nor the lack of something to swallow a prohibitionist.

WHY A GOOD SPEAKING VOICE REALLY PROMOTES WELL BEING

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B. M. A., M. D. (John Hopkins University)

Professors Feuchtinger of Chicago, a treatment that is necessarily confidential.

out and Claps of New York, both point out that "decent speech, distinct utterance and clear tones would make life pleasanter and lessen disease, because it promotes better hygiene of the vocal tract."

An effective and pleasant voice is rare among the mass of the people because so many mothers, fathers and other grown-ups are too conceited and jealous of their authority to admit or try to learn of their own slovenly speech. The consequence is that their children imitate and are taught the rasp, hiss, chopped up words, which necessarily keep them far away from "the equal opportunities" about which these same parents complain.

The vocal muscles must be kept in tone stretched like rubber bands or violin strings to keep the speech pleasant and musical.

"Tuning" Your Choice.

One of the fundamental sources of a perfect voice is the power and elasticity of the vocal muscles. The vocal chords themselves are attached to two little movable bones on top of the ring of gristle inside the Adam's apple. The approach and retreat of the vocal chords are brought about by these muscles.

It is the several layers of muscles which give you the means to vary your tones. A full, melodious voice is only possible when all the muscles are alert and responsive and you have an understanding of your own speech defects and the will to cure them.

Most persons do not use their full voice or speak pleasantly because they refuse to take the matter of speech seriously. Or if they do, to apply it to themselves.

A tired tongue, like a disused one, cannot speak with clearness and distinctness. There is a bone under the tongue to give it firmness and a sound foundation. If by sleep, rest, sunlight and exercise your muscles are not in tune there will be no body or no strength in them to keep the hyoid bone—under the tongue—where it will help the voice the most.

With these muscles strong, well tuned speech becomes a pleasure and a pleasure in the ears of others. Tuned muscles make for clear tones and distinctness of enunciation. Pitch, volume and quality, the three elements of a tone, are then under your will and control. You are able to give a mathematical number of vibrations to your vocal chords and produce a desired pitch. The volume of the voice and the quality which comes from the overtones are under human control, yet most of us speak in staccato, stumbling, slovenly monotonies without an attempt to give pleasure by means of the spoken voice.

Learn and Practice.

A thin voice is no help to its owner. It destroys many an opportunity open to one with many overtones. It is possible, however, for those with patty, mediocre voices to rise above the destiny that seems theirs.

The voice can be made by trial and error and by practice to yield up the greatest number and kind of overtones. This means that it's within your power, if you will be honest with yourself, to discover your carelessness of speech and to correct it. The human voice of parents and grown-ups can be made almost perfect. Then the youngsters around will imitate and reproduce fine voices instead of the harsh, shrill, weak unfavorable speech of elders too proud to admit or to find out their vocal imperfections.

NOT UP TO EXPECTATIONS.

Little Jane, aged about 6, was much interested in the prospect of attending church Sunday morning because baby brother was to be baptized. Many were the questions she put to her parents and grandmother on the way to church as to the procedure which the minister would follow, and evinced much interest when mother explained that the minister would sprinkle the baby.

"You'll have to sit back here with grandmother, Jane," father explained as they entered the church.

Sister and I will sit up in front with brother so as to be near the altar when it is time for the baptismal service."

So Jane, sitting quietly beside her grandmother, craned her neck all through the service waiting for the rites of baptism to be performed for her baby brother and other children of the congregation.

After it was all over and the family was riding home from church, Jane was asked what she thought of the service.

"Well, it was all right, but I was awfully disappointed because the preacher didn't use the hose," was her answer.

QUICK TO LEARN.

Superintendent Shields was inspecting one of the primary schools and paused for a moment to an infant class to instill a few of the rudiments of politeness into the childish minds.

"When someone makes an unpleasant remark," he said, "never call attention to it. Pass it by or change the subject."

Just at that moment the room teacher spoke up sharply:

"Mabel, did I see you whispering?"

"Please, teacher," said Mabel, "we got a vacation at Easter."

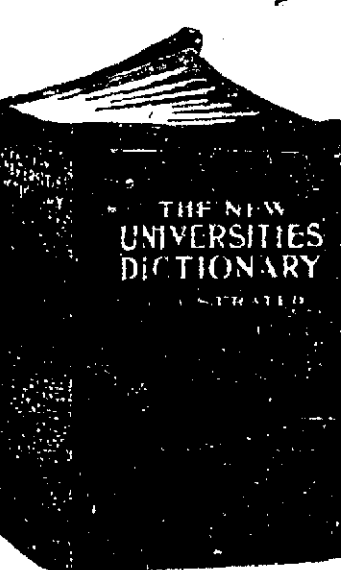

"Mabel, I asked if you were whispering!"

"Am I going to get a good report card?" persisted the little one.

"Mabel, why don't you answer my question?" demanded the exasperated teacher.

"Please, ma'am, but Mr. Shields said if the conversation was unpleasant to change it."—Los Angeles Times.

Short Stories of the Buckeye State

AN EARLY REGISTRATION LAW

While registration for election purposes as we now have it is a comparatively recent thing, the fact of the matter is that the idea is an old one and was given its first trial in this state more than three-quarters of a century ago.

The first law for the registration of voters was enacted in Ohio March 12, 1845. It was of even more general application than the registration laws of the present time are, for it applied to all townships in the state which had more than one voting precinct. Now registration is required only in the large cities.

But the first registration law in Ohio did not as the present one does, lay the burden of registration on the voter. The assessors of the townships and the collectors of taxes were made ex-officio registrars. In the process of their other work they were required to make a record of all males of 21 years of age or over found in their jurisdictions, and a separate record of all who would reach that age before the next approaching election.

These names with their residences were to be placed in the hands of the township election board before 9 a. m. on the Tuesday of the fourth week preceding the next election. This board at once revised the names made alphabetical lists of them and posted the lists for the inspection of the public.

The election boards held a second meeting on Monday preceding the day of election, to hear objections to names in the list and applications from those who may have been overlooked, if any, and at that time made up the final list of persons entitled to vote. That list was used in the election and the presence of a name on the list was prima facie evidence that the owner of it was a legal voter in the precinct. Still, of course his right to vote was subject to challenge under the general election laws, final decision in such a case being in the hands of the precinct electing officers then and there.

HEL FOR MURDER

DAYTON, July 15.—Mrs. Della Dillman, 25, charged with the first degree murder for the alleged killing of her common law husband, John F. Connaughton, 40, by shooting him and slashing his throat with a razor, was held to the grand jury without bond today. The accused woman, fainter when facing the police, was taken to the jail hospital in an ambulance. It is believed her defense will be insanity.

OUR BED-TIME STORY

FOR TINY TIMES-DEMOCRAT FOLKS

When the children and their friends visited the army camp at Brest on their arrival in France, Captain Brave had asked the officers at the camp to hold all mail and messages there for him and his friends, and had told them that he would get in touch with them occasionally to get word they might have for him.

So, today, in the little village, he walked over to the telegraph office and wired to the camp to see if they had any messages or letters for him.

Word came back that there were several letters, including an official envelope with a royal seal on it, waiting for him.

Captain Brave hustled back to the airplane and his friends and told them the news.

"Oh, I bet there's a letter there from mother and father for us, one for Ladydear from mother and maybe one from Captain Bold and Dr. Cheer," said Jane.

"I wonder what the letter with the royal stamp on it can be?" said Jack.

"I am going to find out what all of them are very soon," said Captain Brave, "for I am going to hop into the airplane and fly over to the camp as quickly as I can. If everything goes well I will be back late this afternoon and we can see what everybody has to say. In the meantime Ladydear and you little folks can take it easy."

Jack asked Captain Brave if he couldn't go along, but the captain made him very proud by saying, "You had better stay here and take care of Ladydear and Jane and Jeanne."

A few minutes later Captain Brave sailed away, leaving everybody curious as to what news was in store for them.

The children and Ladydear spent the day in the country around the little village. Being a little French girl, Jeanne of course knew all of the quaint customs of the people in the country and the games of the children. She took pleasure in telling her new found friends all of these things and in answering the questions they asked.

With Jack and Jane she joined one of two of the groups of children at play, so that Jack and Jane could learn the games and could teach the little French children some of the games we play in America.

I don't need to tell you what games Jack and Jane showed them for they were just the kind that you play.

They picked flowers after their lunch and Ladydear showed them how to weave bracelets and baskets, etc., out of the longer stemmed flowers.

Booth had a great time chasing butterflies and birds. His joy came to an end though when he chased what looked to him like a large fly. When it lit on a clover blossom he tried to strike it with his paw. The fly proved to be a bumble bee and when Booth slapped at it with his paw it stung him, making poor Booth howl with pain. Ladydear did all she could to relieve the pain in his foot, but it reminded him all afternoon "that all are not flies that fly."

They had had their supper before Captain Brave arrived and the children were getting anxious about him. When he finally came he had a stack of letters including a long envelope of expensive paper, with a gold seal in the corner. The children were bubbling over with curiosity when they sat down to hear what the mail contained.

ELEPHANT SUBSTITUTES FOR OLD APPLE TREE

And so Fair With Big Circus Executes an Act Not Billed on Program

How would you like to let "the old cat die" from the jaws of a six-ton elephant? According to Victoria Davenport, prettiest of the scores of pretty ladies who ride on the program of the mammoth Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows, it is the greatest sport imaginable. The fair equestrienne performs the "stunt" with Baldy, who, next to the famous "Alice," is the mightiest of all the great herd of elephants.

Miss Davenport has not gotten over the days when one of the greatest joys in life was to swing from the bough of an old apple tree. But apple trees are not often found on circus lots, and so she hitches an improvised swing into Baldy's mouth. As she swings back and forth the faithful old fellow gives forth grunts which Miss Davenport will tell you is the pachyderm way of singing. "Byelow Baby, in the Tree-Top." In the meantime, during the performance, Baldy is one of the leading actors in that greatest of all innovations in animal subjugation—the assembling in "pyramid" and other formations of six times as many elephants as have ever before been presented at one time.

This enormous elephant act will be but one of the many superlatives to be seen when the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows exhibit here. The program will open with a gigantic pageant. This brilliant presentation, enlisting hundreds of characters, depicting the best-loved tales from nursery and fairy-tale lore, will be followed by more than two hours of arene displays which will present the pick of all the talent that has in past years made the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circuses the foremost amusement institutions in America. In addition will be seen acts which, released by the termination of the war, have never before been seen in America. The circus is to exhibit here Saturday, July 26.

BIG RUSH FOR NEW DICTIONARY COMING

Busy Workers Hold Coupons For Presentation on Half-Holiday

Extraordinary efforts have been made for a big rush to get copies of The New Universities Dictionary, the book offered by The Lima Times to its readers exclusively. Thousands beyond all expectations were distributed during the week.

"When we set our thoughts down in written form," says Professor Forrest M. Lunt, M.A., instructor of English in Horace Mann School, Teachers' College, Columbia University, "we are without the aids of voice and manner to make clear what we are trying to say. Our thoughts must be understood because the relations which exist between the various parts of our sentences are clear. If the relations between the parts of our sentences are not clear, the thoughts we are trying to express will not be understood." This is Professor Lunt's introduction to his article on "Practical Syntax," which shows readers of this new dictionary how to build correct sentences.

"Good usage, common practice, society—whatever you will—has decided what is good form, what is proper, in this field of syntax. Just as it has in morals, etiquette or fashions," continues Professor Lunt, "therefore, the man or woman who has occasion to set his thoughts down in writing should observe the common practice, the universally understood rules which govern the relationship of words. If he fails to do this, or if he attempts to make his own rules, or if he will be considered without the pale of cultured educated people. From this it will be seen that the ability to construct sentences properly is hardly less important than the power to speak."

DELPHOS GIVES BIG WELCOME TO ARMY MOTOR TRUCK TRAIN

Delphos had the opportunity Wednesday night of being hosts to the immense army truck train which is making a transcontinental tour of the country to boost recruiting in the army. The motor train came direct to Delphos over the Lincoln highway, the old Delphos-Bucyrus road, and did not pass thru Lima. A reception committee met the train a short distance east of Delphos, about 3.30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Supper for the men was served in St. Johns hall, after which a military dance followed. No men in civilian clothes were permitted on the dance floor. The train consists of 65 trucks and six motor cycles, under the direction of Col. Charles B. McClure. Several of the trucks are equipped as machine shops, and all necessary repairs for the outfit can be made in these.

A large dishpan searchlight is carried with the train, and the rays of the light can be seen a distance of 44 miles. Advance men for the motor transport began arriving in Delphos several hours ahead of schedule, accompanied by recruiting officers. One of the projects of the tour is to gain 6,000 men to enlist in the motor transport service, and as many as possible for the tank service.

A Chance to Live

(By Zoe Beckley)

OUT OF THE DARK

As Annie started out on Monday morning to her job in an office she felt reborn. She bought her pink ticket for the Third Avenue L with a novel sense of opulence, flinging a happy smile at the gray old man who sold it.

On the way down to Fulton street where the establishment of Sims & Orcutt was located, Annie glimpsed a factory room on two. Through open windows she saw the heat of the sun at work. Already she seemed to be in another world. Already she put them before them. Before them lay nothing but a hot, underpaid and motionless. Before her stretched of community where she might work to the unassisted heights.

The offices of Sims & Orcutt were in a fairly modern building. To Annie it seemed palatial. The coolness and brightness of it. The fascination of the news and the stand by the bright-eyed temptations of the elevators. The thrill of being out from the elevator into a wide corridor instead of a narrow, hot, white-washed room.

She felt a little to find the great door. There was no hurry. It was a late time the time she was required to come. The luxury of it! Already the shirtwaist stitches had been at work an hour!

She found the door. Sims & Orcutt. Chemicals and Essential Oil. Annie liked essential oils.

But the were they sounded so important and necessary. She opened the door half timidly half triumphantly and found herself in a common place outer office with a book where the bookkeeper worked and several smaller ones for the women clerks. With a little thrill Annie recognized the sort of desk her Aunt Moggie used to have in her room with the typewriter that disappeared down into it when you shut the lid.

Only a half grown boy was there. "Who's coming see?" he asked. "Come, but friendly, his jaws pulsing an instant in their chewing gum alleys. "Oh yeah you're the new girl. Will hang up yet those and then I'll learn you the switchboard. Know anything about telephoning?"

Annie didn't. But she knew how to smile. And somehow she and the boy got on well from that moment. Annie liked him. And the telephone and the desks and typewriters—everything. Her fingers stretched to get at one of them. Had she forgotten how to click the shiny keys?

By the time she was duly planted at the switchboard the office folks arrived—some stenographers, a young man or two—and Aunt Moggie.

It seemed strange to see Aunt Moggie in this familiar world of hers, which was yet so unfamiliar to the organs. It was almost like getting behind the scenes in a theater. Annie felt. She was so elated herself that she didn't understand how these people could take it all so matter-of-factly. Perhaps they had been born to this world. Perhaps they had not known the task and the triumph of crossing the chasm.

The work that lay this side the chasm was puzzling enough. Annie found before the day was over. But how infinitely less racking than the factory! The learning of the "tele-code" was a harsh test of her nerves. But the boy (who was called "Chet")—Annie wondered what it stood for—helped her good naturedly, and straightened her out when she put the cords plugged in wrong and "cut off" Mr. Simms in the middle of a tirade on the price of sal-amoniac.

Condensed Classic SeriesThe Lima Times' Fascinating Fiction FeatureTODAY—"The Sea Wolf," by Jack London.*FRIDAY—"The Master of Ballantrae," by Robert Louis Stevenson.*LONDON

Jack London was born, with the love of adventure in his veins, at San Francisco, Jan. 12, 1876. He started his education at the University of California, but did not finish it there, for the strenuous life was to be his school, and all humanity were to be his teachers, any strange place his schoolroom. Now he was in the Klondike; now at sea before the mast; then he was in Japan and seal hunting in Bering Sea; again he was tramping through the United States and Canada, learning all he could of men and their ways; he was journalist and lecturer, war correspondent in the Russo-Japanese war, and ever and anon making those voyages which kept the eyes of the world upon him. How he broke into the realm of letters he has vividly described; his own great battle with John Barleycorn, told with unusual frankness, did a great deal to set the stage for John's present tragic plight; his own personality kept the great reading public as interested as did the creations of his imagination; his books came thick and fast, beginning with 1900, sometimes two and three a year.

JACK LONDON, 1876-1916.

Naturally they were uneven, but through all his work glowed the genius of a born story-teller, a great heart, and a love for his fellows and their problems.

He was twice married, first to Bessie Madder and second to Charmian Kittredge, who plays a large part in his later books. He died Nov. 21, 1916.

THE SEA WOLF

By JACK LONDON

(Condensation by Clifton B. Carberry.)

The keen eyes of Wolf Larsen, master of the sealing schooner Ghost, bound for Japanese poaching grounds, spotted the bobbing head of Humphrey Van Woyden amid the waves of San Francisco bay, into whose waters Humphrey had been thrown as a result of a shipwreck. A few moments more and Humphrey was aboard the Ghost.

Rescued, he faced his rescuer with thanks and a request to be put ashore. The skipper eyed him curiously.

"What do you do for a living?" he asked.

"I—I am a gentleman," Humphrey stammered.

"Who feeds you?"

"I have an income."

Wolf Larsen's lips curled in a sneer.

"You stand on dead men's legs. You couldn't walk alone between two sunrises and hustle the meat for your belly for three meals. You stay here as cabin boy for the good of your soul. I'll make a man of you."

In the rebellion leaped into Humphrey's eyes. Before he could protest there came a sudden interruption—a clamor from the real cabin boy, a great husky youth who stood by Wolf Larsen's side and crashed his fist into the boy's stomach. A stick, the lad collapsed into a heap on the deck.

"Well," said Wolf Larsen meaningfully to Humphrey, "have you made up your mind?"

The spark of manhood in Humphrey died out.

"Yes," he replied weakly.

"Say, 'Yes, sir!'"

"Yes, sir."

And thus Humphrey passed into the servitude of Wolf Larsen, the Sea Wolf. His blinking eyes, half revealing and half concealing his terror, surveyed his master and thus appraised him: "Massive of build, like a huge gorilla; with a strength savage and ferocious; features of no evil stamp; eyes of baffling green gray, sometimes as chill as an Arctic landscape, sometimes all aglow with love-lights—intense, masculine and compelling—which at the same time fascinate and dominate women until they surrender in a gladness of joy and of relief and sacrifice."

His creed the mighty will which engined Wolf Larsen, was short.

"Life is a mess," he declared.

"The big eat the little that they may continue to move; the strong eat the weak that they may retain their strength. The lucky eat the most and move the longest, that is all."

His company on shipboard: seamen sodden and sullen by drink, more animal than human; a group of seal hunters, wild reckless nomads, ignorant of an ordered world—all slaves in body and spirit to the Sea Wolf.

Yet there was a gentle side to Wolf Larsen. He was no ignorant cave man. He could discuss literature with "Hump," roll over his lips the poetic glories of Shelley and Browning, argue the sciences with amazing fluency and be disarmingly charming at times.

As the days rolled on and murderous quarrels made the hours hideous, Humphrey's backbone gradually stiffened. He dreamed of killing the Sea Wolf. But Larsen fascinated him and like some splendid animal, some dangerous beast, held him in a spell. He knew the world should be rid of such a monster, yet Larsen's eyes compelled obedience.

Day by day, with not a gleam of graciousness to break the orgy of brutishness, this tragic drama went on. Humphrey despaired of even a

Like Humphrey, she came to the Ghost from the sea, saved from a wrecked liner. Like Humphrey, she expected to be put aboard a passing vessel. But no! The Sea Wolf had other plans. She was added to the crew as Humphrey was, and likewise "for the good of her soul."

Maude received the news in wonderment. What kind of a man was this mocking master of the Ghost? She was soon to find out.

The cook had offended Larsen. A rope was coiled around the offender and he was cast overboard in the wake of the ship. A shark rushed for him and Larsen ordered him pulled in. Despite the maddened haste, the shark in the final rush tore away the foot of the victim.

"The shark was not in the reckoning," Miss Brewster said the Sea Wolf smilingly. "It was—shall we say—an act of Providence."

This scene convinced Humphrey that he must kill Wolf Larsen. His courage flared up so brightly that he actually threatened to murder him.

The Sea Wolf barked a whimsical snuff. "Bravo Hump! you do me proud. I like you the better for it."

Humphrey winced. He confided his resolution to Maude with whom he had fallen in love. She counseled against it, protesting that moral courage always defeats brute force, but she failed to convince him. He knew the Sea Wolf too well.

The dancing lights in Wolf Larsen's eyes when he looked into Maude's warned Humphrey that some day the storm would break. And it did. In the midst of the night, he rushed into Maude's cabin to find her in the crisscross embrace of Wolf Larsen.

Humphrey flung himself on the monster to be tossed aside like a chip. He rushed again drawing his knife, plunging the blade into the Sea Wolf's shoulder. Larsen staggered back and Maude seized Humphrey begging him not to kill. Suddenly the Wolf collapsed, not from his wound but as if from some uncanny spell that paralyzed him. The giant was helpless. Humphrey carried him to his berth and realized that opportunity for escape was at hand.

Maude and he put off in a small boat hoping that they might make Japan, 600 miles away. But the winds and creeping drift of the Pacific intervened and finally the grim adventure ended for a time on a little Arctic island. Here they prepared to remain for the winter.

Suddenly one morning, weeks after Humphrey saw on the beach the wreck of a vessel and it was strangely familiar. It could not be—yes it was—the Ghost. The blood chilled in his veins. Wild thoughts of flight or the sudden ending of both their lives entered his mind. Then a wondering cunning succeeded such fears. He would kill Wolf Larsen, kill him as he slept, for all on board were doubtless sleeping. With knife and gun he climbed to the deck. He saw no one. Was the ship deserted after all?

But as he rounded the poop there burst on his gaze the Sea Wolf. Humphrey raised his gun; the trigger clicked sharply. Then silence. "Why don't you shoot?" coolly remarked the Wolf.

Humphrey could not speak.

"Hump," said the Sea Wolf slowly, "You can't do it. And after all I have taught you. You know that I would kill an unarmed man as readily as I would smoke a cigar. Bah! I had expected the better things of you, Hump."

Humphrey slowly lowered the gun. The Ghost's presence was explained calmly by the Sea Wolf. He was caught in a net he had set for his hated brother. "Death" Larsen, his crew were taken away and he was left alone. Pacific storms did the rest.

A strange weariness in the Sea Wolf's bearing, a hesitant, preoccupied air about him puzzled Humphrey. A few days later, he again summoned courage to put him out of the way. But this time he saw Wolf Larsen slowly making his way down the deck, his quivering finger tips groping for the hand rail. Wolf Larsen was blind! No need to kill him.

Maude and Humphrey determined to escape by repairing the Ghost, but the Sea Wolf willed otherwise. Blind and helpless as he was, he craftily contrived to ruin Humphrey's work, determined they should all die together, so his grim revenge would be complete. Fiendish cunning and instinct to kill still remained. A final reckoning was to come. Scorning precaution because he felt the Sea Wolf physically powerless from the suspected pressure of a tumor on the brain, Humphrey ventured too near one day. Suddenly the Sea Wolf's stupor passed. The steel-like fingers gripped Humphrey's throat. The trap had sprung.

Maude leaped into action, tearing at Larsen's hands. But for once the Sea Wolf's tremendous will could not spur his weakened body. His fingers twitched and then relaxed and Humphrey was released.

"That was the last play of the Wolf," said Larsen with his twisted smile. "I'd like to have done for your first, Hump. I thought I had that much left in me."

OCTOGENARIAN AT ST. MARYS IS DEAD

ST. MARYS, July 17.—Aged eighty years and four months, William Lutterbeck, one of the best known citizens in Washington township, passed away Tuesday, July 14, 1919, at his place of residence in New Knoxville.

Symptoms of uraemic poisoning were a factor in the fatality.

Surviving are four daughters: Mrs. John Henken, New Knoxville; Mrs. Stoltz, wife of Rev. Louis Stoltz, Decatur, Ind.; Emma and Norma at the parental home. X. Wm. Lutterbeck died six years ago. One daughter, Mrs. Hoelscher, wife of Louis H. Hoelscher, of St. Marys, died in the fall of the year 1914. There are 12 grand children and three great grand children. George Kuhlman and Louis H. Steva, of St. Marys, are brothers-in-law of the late Wm. Lutterbeck.

The wheat in the vicinity of St. Marys is reported still to wet for threshing.

Work began today in that section of the county about 4 miles south of town, where less rain fell than in the regions to the north. Some wheat, however brought in from districts where less rain fell is reported in good condition.

Mrs. Wm. Hiermer, South Wayne St. went to Lima this afternoon, to attend the funeral tomorrow of her brother-in-law, the late Anthony Cunningham, who died Monday night from effects of dropsy. The wife, a sister of Mrs. Hiermer, survives.

First of the week rains brought "night crawlers" parties again into prominence. Amateur sportsmen last night reaped a harvest of the corned fishworms. Going about with flashlights, youngsters and grownups find the fish bait part above ground and part in their burrows. Quick action is needed after seeing the game to capture it before it gets itself absorbed in the earth. The method is recommended as an easy one contrasted with digging in the hard ground for bait.

VAN WERT

ENDS HIS LIFE BY CARBOLIC ACID WAY

VAN WERT, July 17.—John T. Groves, proprietor of the Lincoln Way restaurant, was found dead in the restaurant Wednesday morning following a search for him for about three hours. Near his body was found a half drained cup of carbollic acid. That he took his own life by drinking the acid is believed by those who have investigated the case.

The discovery of Mr. Groves' body and the realization that he had taken his own life came as a distinct shock, not only to his devoted family but to all who had learned of the matter. No hint or slight clue had been given that he had contemplated the act and it was totally unexpected to everyone.

Mrs. Hugh E. Allen, of East Main street, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. George W. Campbell, of Toledo, narrowly escaped serious injury in an unpleasant accident occurring while she was en route to that city. A water tank on the Ohio Electric traction car, between Lima and Toledo, gave way and fell narrowly missing Mrs. Allen, who was however drenched with ice cold water. She has however fully recovered from the effects of the mishap.

The funeral of William L. Pierson, who accidentally drowned in Shirley Lake near New Castle, Indiana, was held this afternoon, at the Methodist Church in Willshire. The deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pierson, of Decatur, Indiana, many years residents of Willshire. He was well known in Van Wert, having enlisted with old Co. D and was a member of the squad selected for service with the famous Rainbow Division.

CELINA, July 17.—Henry Linn, of Liberty township, tells how one of the large Standard Oil trucks was wrecked Tuesday on the bridge crossing Big Blackcreek on the Felver pike, when 900 gallons of gasoline were spilled.

The bridge also went down with the Standard Oil wagon Tuesday evening Commissioner George B. Hill and County Surveyor R. B. Morrison went to the scene of the wreck and made arrangements to have a new 40-foot steel bridge in readiness to drive over by Saturday.

The scene of disaster in which locality the driver of the truck escaped with his life, occurred where the bridge crosses Big Blackcreek on the Felver pike.

An effort is being made to save the Munster-Fort Loramie electric line, soon to be abandoned. It is now proposed to connect the line with a branch of the Lake Erie and Western railroad at Munster. The line is three miles in length. Residents of Fort Loramie are very much interested.

WAPAKONETA

MYSTERY INMATE AT INFIRMARY DIES

WAPAKONETA, July 17.—After an illness covering a period of about two years, Fred Schmid, an inmate of the Aulake County Infirmary, passed from this life, Tuesday night, July 15, 1919, at 11:30 o'clock at the infirmary. Death was due to a complication of diseases.

Mr. Schmid was received at the County Infirmary on January 9, 1917. At that time he had been found lying on the track of the Western Ohio Railway, north of this city, where it is thought he had probably crawled after leaving a freight train.

No information had ever been obtained concerning relatives of the deceased, or concerning his life previous to his arrival at the infirmary. He was born in Germany in 1848, and had reached the age of seventy-one years at the time of his death.

Giving his name as William Grace and his home at Winnipeg, Canada, a stranger drifted into town and was arrested by Chief of Police Ague, for carrying concealed weapons, and as a drug addict.

The man walked up and down the street Tuesday afternoon without attracting any unusual attention, but when he attempted to sell to the proprietor of a local billiard room a Smith-Wesson 32 calibre revolver and went to the office of a physician presumably to get "dope," suspicions were aroused and he was taken into custody by the Chief.

After an illness extending over but a short period from a complication of diseases, Rev. Henry Good died at his home on North Defiance street, Tuesday night.

He was born in Cedarville, Greene County, July 15, 1844, one of four children of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Good. At the time of his death he had just attained the age of seventy-five years.

A special election was held at Unipolis, Tuesday, to decide the proposition of issuing bonds of the village in the sum of $2,500, to repair and rebuild the Town Hall. More than two-thirds of the voters were in favor, giving the proposition the necessary majority. Thirty-five voted for the bond issue, and ten against.

FAUROT-DOROTHY GISH

The average lady reformer is not a creature calculated to appeal favorably to the average citizen, but as presented by Dorothy Gish in her heroine role of "Peppy Polly," which opened a two day stay at the Faurot this afternoon, she shines with an entirely new radiance, figuring as a pretty heart-breaker, determined investigator and vivaciously amusing damsel combined. It is a part peculiarly well suited to the versatile star, endowed with a rare mingling of pathos and humor, winning and holding the spectators' sympathy by sheer force of personality. The "only and original Gish" claim is never absent, that unusual Thespian gift of being mirthful and wistful at the same time, which nature has bestowed upon the laughing Dorothy.

Miss Gish is supported by a strong and capable cast. Richard Barthelmess, as the lover physician, is an exceedingly acceptable and alluring swain, Josephine Crowell gives a capital impersonation of the venomously revengeful matron, and Emily Chichester is engagingly pitiful as the erring girl chum, during the short period she is on view.

It is worthy of note that the reformatory and its inmates seem vividly true to type and convey an impression of realism which adds immeasurably to the picture's strength. There is an abundance of beautiful photography in evidence, with well filmed interiors and exteriors. This feature ranks high as a program attraction, offering sparkling comedy, romance, love interest in generous quantities and should be welcomed by all picture-goers. There are additional features of interest and amusement.

AT THE LYRIC.

Pauline Frederick revels in gorgeous raiment. She delights in wearing gowns which echo the last word in feminine fashions and the more of them she can appropriately display in her Goldwyn Pictures, the happier she is. In "One Week of Life," which comes to the Lyric theater, beginning today, her sartorial opportunities are even greater than in "The Woman in the Index." Happily cast in a dual role, she is enabled to look magnificent as Mrs. Kingsley Sherwood and charmingly unassuming as Marion Roche, who comes to New York for the first time to join the artists' colony.

SHE was just itching to get into jail and wear stripes "and everything."

So she "heaved" a brick through the nearest jewelry store window and the "cope" obliged her by giving her three years.

That's where the fun starts and her sweetheart comes in jail. There's a story that will warm the cockles of your heart; pathos that will tickle your throat, and fun—! Why! You'll chuckle for a week after you see "Peppy Polly."

SPORTS-BASEBALL

Sportdom can't understand what's wrong with Boston Red Sox—Dempsey Plans to take one year's vacation.

BOXING-SPORTS*FANS ARE WONDERING WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH BOSTON SOX

It's a Lead Pipe Cinch, However, You Can't Have a World Beater Team Every Season

What's the matter with the world's champion Boston Red Sox? American League fans are all chattering about this for the collapse of the club which ran away with the American League gongalon in 1918 and then trounced the Chicago Cubs for the world's honors, is one of the surprising happenings of this campaign. That Ed Barrow's team is out of the running now goes without saying. They are almost certain to finish in the second division.

Championship ball clubs, no matter how good they are, must disintegrate. This is the history of the national game. The old Cubs were almost invincible, yet they fell to pieces. It was the same with Jimmy Collins' wonderful aggregation, with a couple of John McGraw teams, with the Pittsburgh champions, and with those of Hughie Jennings. Connie Mack alone has the comforting thought that he broke up his championship bunch before they showed signs of weakening.

Bill Carrigan headed a great team in 1916 and won a world's championship. It wasn't quite so good in 1917 under Jack Barry, but under Ed Barrow last year, in an off season, the Red Sox went out and landed another American League pennant and a world's series.

With the war gone into history many teams are stronger this year than they were in 1918, but the Boston club disposed of many men who might have kept the club in the running this season. Without Babe Ruth, as it is, the Bostonians would be fighting for cellar honors.

Duffy Lewis was sent to the New York Yankees last winter. He is playing fine ball for Miller Huggins, but "Babe" Ruth is not filling his shoes at Fenway Park.

Chick Shorten was sent to Detroit, but Frank Gihooly is a poor substitute for him.

Larry Gardner is shining at third base for the Cleveland Indians, but Oscar Vitt is not doing that at third for the Red Sox.

Dutch Leonard and Ernie Shore were disposed of without equally good men being obtained to fill their places, for neither Ray Caldwell nor George Dumont Legin to be as good as they were for the Boston club.

To make matters worse, Sam Jones is having an off year—last season showed him at his best—and "Bullet Joe" Bush has been suffering from a weak arm all season long.

Then when you think of the internal squabbles that have torn the champions apart, with Carl Mays accusing Jack Barry of "throwing games," and cliques formed to support Jack Barry against Dave Egan, it is not to be wondered that the Red Sox are in the second division. Indeed, it is surprising that they are as high as they are.

er, who are to clash in the star bout of eight rounds at the Armory A. A. of Jersey City Monday night, are both reported as being in fine shape for their scrap and confident of winning. White seems certain that he will outpoint the veteran little fighter this time.

Matchmaker Ivy Lewis, who manages the Armory A. A. of Boston, is particular about the featherweight championship bout between Benny Valger the French featherweight king, and Johnny Kilbane, world champion. Lewis has informed the manager of Valger that should the French flash earn the referee's decision over Johnny Dundee on Tuesday night he will immediately wire Kilbane an offer of $10,000 to defend his title in a bout with Benny.

FRAZEE MAY SELL WORLD'S CHAMPIONS

BOSTON, July 17.—Harry Frazee, disgusted with the poor showing of his world's champions and unwilling to lose money in base ball will sell his club as soon as the 1919 campaign ends, according to stories going the rounds here. Frazee is a theatrical promoter and he does not like to back a bloomer.

Stories are also heard that the Braves, swapped by the costly upkeep of Braves Field will switch their franchise, probably to Toronto. President Grant is in baseball to stay, but he does not like the looks of things here.

DEMPSEY WANTS REDS TO WIN PENNANT

Expressed His Feelings Before Departing From Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, O., July 17.—Before taking his departure for Los Angeles, where he will go in the movies, Jack Dempsey, new heavyweight champion, told manager Ike Dorgan, of Chester Park, that he hoped the Reds would win the pennant, and if they do, he would come to Cincinnati to see the world's series. He also stated that he would like to make his first appearance in Cincinnati as world's heavyweight champion and hopes that Dick O'Brien would be his opponent.

From Los Angeles, Dempsey will go to San Francisco and then to his old home in Salt Lake City, where the Chamber of Commerce will give him a reception. His parents and relatives are also getting up a celebration in honor of the man who defeated Willard.

Cravath Makes Trade

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 17.—Manager Cravath made his first big trade today when he swapped Pitchers Jacobs and Woodward and infielder Baird to the St. Louis club for Pitcher Meadows and Gene Paulette, who can play anywhere. The men will report to their new teams at once.

Columbia Hotel Stakes are Run

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 17.—The last $3,000 purse of the local Grand Circuit meeting, the Columbia Hotel stake, was on today's program with a hotly contested race in prospect. Among the large field entered, Geers had three possible starters, Murphy five and Walter Cox, who has started in only one event here, entered four horses. Today's card also includes a 2:08 trot worth $1,000, the Recreation Park sweepstakes for two year old trotters and 2:16 pace for Michigan half millers.

WILLIE MEEHAN IS BRAVE MAN

Willie Meehan, the pudgy heavyweight of California, who has fought Champion Jack Dempsey three times, the last contest being won by Meehan, who received the decision in a four-round bout at San Francisco, September 13, 1918, is the latest one of the big fellows anxious to get another crack at the world's heavyweight champion. Billy Gibson, Eastern manager of Meehan, received a telegram today from Meehan, in which he said: "Go ahead and match me with Dempsey, any number of rounds will suit me." Dempsey might consent to take Meehan on in about six months as he is anxious to wipe out that defeat Meehan has over him.

PROS. CABLE SAYS HE WILL INVESTIGATE

WILL LOOK INTO ALL FACTS OF PETITION TO P. U. COMMISSION

Will Also Take Up Charges Filed Against the City Treasurer Jones

WILL CLEAR UP CASE

Says If There is Anything Wrong Grand Jury Will Hold a Hearing

SUIT IS FILED BY CITY OF LIMA

(Associated Press Dispatch.) COLUMBUS, July 17.—Suit has been filed in the supreme court by the city of Lima against the Ohio State Public Utilities commission, seeking to upset the commission's ruling, effective July 1, under which the Lima Natural Gas company is authorized to charge a monthly "readiness to serve" fee of 25 cents to gas consumers. A majority of the members of the city council at Lima are said to have signed petitions favoring the gas company fee.

The Allen county grand jury may investigate the case of city councilmen and the Lima Natural Gas company, according to a statement made today by John Cable, prosecuting attorney. Later, Prosecutor Cable stated, the grand jury will certainly investigate the charges made by State Examiner Thomas against Josiah F. Jones, city treasurer in which Jones is charged with embezzlement.

The latter case, Cable stated, will be thoroughly investigated, and if the charges made by Thomas prove true Jones will be indicted, while if the charges are false, the treasurer will in every way be vindicated. This case, according to Cable demands investigation owing to the fact that charges are made by an official of the state.

When questioned regarding the council and gas company case, Cable stated he is looking into it, and if there is the least sign showing a councilman has accepted a bribe of any kind the case will be thoroughly investigated, and county officials will not rest until every man under suspicion has either been indicted or vindicated.

City officials, today denied the rumor that they have anything to do with the rumor that two special investigators from an internationally known detective agency will be

STATEMENT OF COUNCIL MEMBERS TO COMMISSION

(Special to The Times-Democrat)

COLUMBUS, July 17.—Only information available here about the time when the statement from members of the Lima City Council was presented here, was to the effect that the statement was presented to the Public Utilities Commission after the case had been pleaded by the City Solicitor of Lima. No official statement was obtainable.

A copy of the statement was obtained by a representative of The Times and reads as follows:

Lima, Ohio, June 8th, 1919.
To the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio,
Columbus, Ohio.

Gentlemen:—

The undersigned are members of the Council of the City of Lima, Ohio, and are entirely familiar with the conditions under which natural gas has been furnished for domestic purposes in Lima during the last year.

Cutting off the consumption of industrial and furnace gas has made the service and supply of gas for domestic consumption very satisfactory to the people of this city.

We are advised that The Lima Natural Gas Company has asked your authority to make a Readiness-to-Serve Charge of 35c a month. Under existing gas conditions, we feel that in the future, gas can be had only for domestic consumption and caring for the small user of gas.

We feel that if the Gas Company can make a proper showing to your Commission that the Readiness-to-Serve Charge is necessary to enable the Company to serve the small consumer, without loss, that it should be allowed.

Very respectfully,

ELMER E. KILLIAN (Signed)
GEORGE R. MUNTIS (Signed)
E. L. FOSTER (Signed)
J. P. BRENNEMAN (Signed)
F. C. SNYDER (Signed)
C. P. MOREY (Signed)
T. M. BERRY (Signed)

brought to Lima for the purpose of hunting the truths in this case.

Naturally after the chaos comes a reign of quiet and everyone connected with the city hall are "sitting still" today. It mostly seems to be a case of what you can expect, insofar as city officials are concerned, in their attitude against council.

Each official talked to today seems to be very busy at present playing that game of "pass the buck," which is always prominent in a case of this kind.

Impeachment Proceedings? According to both Cable and Melvin Light, city solicitor, if an elector desires an impeachment of councilmen concerned in the affair, a complaint will have to be lodged by the elector and signed by four more electors. This complaint will have to be filed with the probate judge of Allen county.

While it is rumored there will be impeachment proceedings, no one talked to today knew anything about them, and while each declared something should be done, no one seemed willing to be the instigator of the affair. It is, however, anticipated some move on the part of interested citizens will be made at the regular council meeting next Monday night.

KIWANIS CLUB TO MEET TOMORROW

The preliminary meeting of the board of directors of the Lima Kiwanis club, affiliated with the Kiwanis club international, will be held immediately following luncheon in the Elks' club, Friday, July 18, at 12 noon sharp, at which time temporary officers to serve until the new club is completed and functioning will be elected.

Telegrams of congratulation were received today from Henry J. Elliott, King's Counsel, Montreal, Canada, president of the international body; International Secretary O. Sam Cummings, of Chicago, and various other Kiwanis officials, while congratulatory letters and telegrams are pouring in from Kiwanis clubs in Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and other nearby states.

At the first regular pow-wow and luncheon of the Lima Kiwanis club, which has been indefinitely scheduled for about July 29, delegations will be present from the Kiwanis clubs of Toledo, Ft. Wayne, Springfield, Columbus, Dayton, Cleveland, Norwalk, Elkhart, Lorain and other cities.

COMMISSION FORM ENTHUSIASTS ARE NOW VERY JUBILANT

Adherents to the Commission Form of City Government plan for Lima are in great glee as a result of the turmoil now going on over the many different exposures in the Republican city government.

One warm advocate of the new plan said to The Times this morning: "Well, I guess that will make them sit up and take notice now. If a vote could be taken tomorrow on the new plan it would get about 99 votes out of every 100. People are so thoroughly disgusted with the many different explosions in the city government that we would win hands down if the election could be held at once."

"Anyway, we can sit back and say we told you so. We are not going to stop until we get the plan submitted at the polls."

STRIKE IN STATU QUO.

Nothing new in regard to the Ohio Electric strike has developed within the past several days. Another meeting of contractors and linemen has been called for Thursday afternoon, and it is possible that some move, either one way or the other will be made, according to Raymond Cleary, business agent.

RACE RIOTS LATEST THING IN BRITAIN

LONDON, July 17.—Race riots in the northern part of England and Wales have created a stir throughout the country, principally because of the novelty of such occurrences in these islands.

Normally there are few negroes or aliens with colored skins to be seen in Great Britain, but the exigencies of war caused the importation of a large number of them to work on seaport docks and to recruit the ranks of manual laborers depleted by the call for fighting men. They were brought from various parts of the world, South Africa and the West Indies supplying the bulk of them. Many Arabs also were imported.

Repatriation of these colored men have been slow, with the consequence that many demobilized British soldiers have had what seemed to them the bitter experience of seeing strangers engaged at profitable employment while they, themselves, looked in vain for work.

Resentment over this state of affairs quickly developed into hatred when the soldiers observed that the strangers were trying to cultivate the acquaintance of white girls. A number of negroes took white wives.

A medical officer in the troubled district describes the situation as very serious, both from a health and economic point of view, and asserts that 400,000 demobilized men are still without employment while negroes are employed. "It is nothing less than iniquitous that the men who have fought for their country should find the jobs they need occupied by negroes."

WILL ASK NEW BIDS

According to information received this afternoon from county commissioners, all bids received for improvements on the Spencerville road will be turned down and will be re-advertised. After bids had been received, a conclusion was arrived at to the effect that material offered by the bidders was of a very cheap variety.

As a result commissioners determined to use either "Willite" "Tarvia" or asphalt on the road. When completed this road will be a stretch of six miles of pavements. This latter improvement calls for 1,800 feet.

STRICKEN ON STREET

W. R. Pulford of Ashley, Ohio, was taken suddenly ill at the corner of Wayne and Main streets about 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening. He was removed in the Schuller and Hooks ambulance to the city hospital for treatment.

STEAMER AGROUND.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 17.—The shipping board steamer Seatic was collided with early today by a loaded barge and forced aground. Little damage was inflicted and the sailing of the Seatic will not be interfered with. The bow of the barge was smashed.

Looking for Bargains

You can't be always looking for bargains; you'd spend a lot of time doing it and you'd probably not find many at that. But when a bargain meets you and looks you in the face, and says—"Here I am," it will probably pay you to stop a minute and give attention.

That's what's happening to you now; this is our clearance sale time; when we get together all the odds and ends and broken lines. Then we mark new prices on them, so low that even the man who has all the clothes to wear that he needs, ought to buy for future use; another man who needs clothes gets a real price-picnic.

Just take our word for it; this store has real bargains for you in suits at our clearance sale prices. You'd better drop in and give them the "once over." Money in it for you.

Youth Held For Murder Tries to Hang Himself

*FREEHOLD, N. J., July 17.—Edward O'Brien, the youth held for extradition to New York, where he was indicted yesterday for the murder of Gardiner C. Hull, a Manhattan stationer, was discovered shortly before midnight tearing his blankets and bedding and apparently trying them into a noose. Jail officials believe he was planning to take his life by hanging in the manner in which Dr. Walter Keen Wilkins, convicted of playing his wife, committed suicide in the Maclella jail.

Guards entered O'Brien's cell and everything by which he could harm himself was taken away. A guard was then stationed outside the cell to prevent him from attempting suicide.
